

Use this with the bundle you have already printed

Your earlier bundle has 64 pages, including its contents page and section slips. Keep the cut cue cards, run sheet, morning checklist, day-of reset sheet, seed signs and table numbers. Clip this page to the front of the facilitator materials and use it when an older sheet refers to the fuller group task.

Sort the old bundle

Keep	Pages
Cue-card sheets, to cut	7-13
Run sheet and morning checklist	36-40
Day-of reset	42
Seed signs	44-53
Table numbers	55-64

Set aside pages 2-5 (role cards) and 14-34 (the earlier table packs). Keep the old worked examples in the facilitator kit as an emergency reference, but do not put the earlier pack on a table.

The revised activity

Part 2 still occupies 30 minutes. The group build runs from 13:18 to 13:33, followed by the lightning round and close. Each group needs only three things: run a tool on one problem, note one or two errors it makes and prepare one line for the room.

Use these updates with the old facilitator sheets

When	Say or do this
12:08	Point to the ready example in the new group reference pack. Do not send people to the old starter prompts.
12:26	Say that Part 2 asks groups to run a tool, catch it out and prepare one line for the room. Show slide 15, then form groups around the track signs.
13:15	Put the new group sheet on top of the table materials. It carries the instructions participants need during the activity.
13:18	Prioritise a caught error and the line for the room. The map, oversight choice and field reflection are optional only when a group has time left.

Set out at each table

Lay two new group sheets on top of one new group reference pack. Keep the older group pack, role cards, data decision aid, starter prompts and one-pager away from the tables. They belong to the earlier, fuller version of the activity and would give groups two sets of instructions.

A personal selection, made in the facilitator's own capacity. It is not the position of the University of Oxford (the facilitator's employer) or of the host, and it is not legal advice.